ENGINEER HOLLOWAY

Meets Death in Head End Collision on Montgomery Division

WAS WELL KNOWN AT THIS PLACE

A Special from Fort Deposit Ala., dated May 14 says: Through Freight No. 18 on the Louisville and Nashville Road between Mobile and Montgomery collided head on with a work train four miles north of here, and one mile south of Calhoun at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Ten cars and the two engines went down the embankment. Jack C. Holloway of Montgomery, engineer of No. 18, was killed, while a negro stroker named Williams was seriously injured. It is also rumored that an unknown hobo was killed in the collision. The cause of the collision is not stated.

The cars, when derailed, took fire from the engines, and within a few minutes a string of ten cars was a seething mass of flames. Some of the cars which went off the track were filled with rosin and the fire feeding on this caused a blaze that defied all efforts to extinguish.

Engineer Holloway is well known in Earlington having resided here for a number of years in the employment of the L. & N. His home was in Henderson and the remains were shipped to Henderson Thursday for burial. Rev. Brandon pastor of the Methodist church of this place was notified to accompany the remains to Henderson and preach the funeral. The many friends of the family offer sympathy in this hour of trouble.

J. W. Jordan, a well known dentist of Hopkinsville, Ky., recently had an operation for his kidney trouble, but he says: "The first real relief I got was after taking Foley Kidney Pills. They eased the terrible pain in my back and accomplished more good than anything I had tried. I gladly recommend them." Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated Drug Department.

MINERS' STRIKE COSTS ABOUT $12,000,000 IN WAGES ALONE

Total Loss in All Quarters Cannot Well Be Estimated

Philadelphia—To and including Saturday the anthracite mines have been idle for 38 working days. As there are 178,000 anthracite employees of whom all but a negligible few are idle, the suspension thus far represents the direct loss of more than 6,000,000 days labor. The loss in wages has probably been in excess of $12,000,000. Based on last year's production, the loss in coal mined, between April 1 and May 11, has been about 8,000,000 tons. Allowing the 1910 value at the mine of $1.90 per ton (the latest obtainable average figure), this coal represents a money loss of more than $14,000,000. Thus the combined loss in wages and coal production thus far has exceeded $26,000,000.

The real total losses, in all quarters, resulting from the anthracite suspension, of course, have been much larger than this sum. In fact, they would probably foot up to this amount multiplied a good many times. The losses in anthracite freights alone would equal the value of the coal at the mine. There has been a heavy loss in the wages of railroad men who have been laid off on account of the cessation of the anthracite traffic. The retail coal trade is losing a large volume of business, and the losses extend in many other directions before their effects disappear.

In this connection it is of interest to note that United States Consul General Griffiths, at London, has compiled a number of estimates of the losses in the British coal strike. The estimates run from $72,997,500 to $243,325,000. Mr. Griffiths is inclined to think that the London Daily Mirror's estimate of $122,635,800 is probably not excessive when the almost unlimited ramification of the effects of the strike are taken into consideration. The Mirror's estimate takes no consideration of the increased cost of living during the strike. Making allowance for this, Mr. Griffiths believes the London Daily Telegraph's estimate of $243,325,000 may not be too large. The loss of working days to the coal miners was about $25,000,000.

It would surprise you to know of the great good that is being done by Chamberlain's Tablets. Darius Downey, of Newberg Junction, N. ## Fire Alarm System

General Information

The city of Earlington has been divided into four Fire Districts, known as numbers one, two, three and four. These districts are formed by the two natural physical dividing lines,—viz. Main Street and the L. & N. R. R.

Fire District No. 1 comprises all that territory North of Main St., and West of the R. R., e. g. the City Hall, Round House, F. B. Arnold's residence, Pump House, etc. etc., are in District No. 1.

Fire District 2, comprises all that territory North of Main St., and East of the R. R. (e. g. the St. Bernard Store, Barnes, Coward & Co., P. H. Whalens residence, Masonic Temple. "Logtown" etc. etc., are in District No. 2.

Fire District 3, comprises all that territory South of Main St., and West of the R. R. (e. g. the Post Office, Goodloe's restaurant, Chas. Cowell's residence, Mrs. Harriet Browning's residence, Esq. Jas. Priest's residence, etc. etc., are in District No. 3.

Fire District 4, comprises all that territory South of Main St., and East of the R. R. (e. g. the Peoples Bank, Victory Building, C. M. Henry's residence, Catholic Church, New Methodist Church, etc. etc., are in District No. 4.

Each telephone subscriber in these Districts has been furnished with a card showing the number of Fire District in which each phone is situated,—these cards directing that, in case of fire, Central Telephone Exchange be informed of District Number and name of house "on fire." The Central operator will in turn notify L. & N. Round House, which will give the alarm.

The Round House whistle will in the future give the official alarm, and this alarm consist of a series of short blasts followed by one, two, three or four long ones, according to the district in which fire is located,—these long blasts indicating the district. This alarm will be repeated as seems necessary. The L. & N. locomotives will not give the alarm unless an engineer or trainmen should first discover a fire (i. e. should see it before the regular alarm had been given)—or, in the event the regular Round House alarm should fail to arouse the fire Department at night.

Texas and The Railroad

On the complaint that one of its stations was cold a Texas local road is sued for $35,000. If the Texas roads kept their stations and cars as hot as the people there make it for the roads, the passengers would be agitating for refrigerator cars.

A thousand tongues could not express the gratitude of Mrs. J. E. Cox, of Joliet, Ill., for her wonderful deliverance from an awful fate. ## The Demons of The Swamp are mosquitos. As they sting they put deadly malaria germs in the blood. Then follow the icy chills and the fires of fever. The appetite fails and the strength falls; also malaria often paves the way to deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters kill and gas out the malaria germs from the blood; give you a pure appetite and renew your strength. "After long suffering," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "three bottles drove all the malaria from my system, and I've had good health ever since." Best for all stomach liver and kidney ills. 50c. at All Druggists.

Cheerfulness

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well-told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick-room. Learn to keep your troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows.

Learn to stop creaking. If you can not see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself. Learn to hide your pains and aches under pleasant smiles. No one cares to hear whether you have the earache, headache or rheumatism.

Don't cry, tears do well enough in novels, but are out of place in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. A good-humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and is an annoyance as well.

Above all, give pleasure. Lose no chance of giving pleasure. You will pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that you can do, or say, kindlyness, that you can show to any human being, you better do it now; do not defer or neglect it, for you will not pass this way again. —Anon.

Emmett Logan Dies at Baltimore

Baltimore, Md., May 15.—Col. Emmet C. Logan, of Warren county Ky., died here in the Johns Hopkins hospital at 8 o'clock tonight of apoplexy. He came here on May 5 from Washington, where he had been since January, having come East for treatment of affection of the ear. He was operated on here several days ago and was said to be doing nicely. He was heard to fall in his room tonight and was found apparently dead on the floor. All efforts to revive him failed.

He was born in Shelby county on October 9, 1848. For many years he was editor of the Louisville Times. He gave up newspaper work on account of his health and retired to his farm near Bowling Green.

Mrs. R. Brant, 1115 Paden St., Parkersburg, W. Va., had an attack of lagrippe which left her bad kidney trouble, and she suffered much severe pain and backache. Then she heard of Foley Kidney Pills and says: "After taking them a short time the pain left my back and I am again able to do my own housework. Foley Kidney Pills helped me wonderfully." Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, Drug Department.

Personal Inspection

Frankfort, Ky., May 15.—Inspection in person at every mile of railroad in Kentucky will be made by the railroad commission before the tangible property of the railroads is assessed.

This was decided by the members of the commission and the inspection will begin May 16, when the commission will go to Prestonsburg to investigate a complaint about depot facilities there. The members of the commission will view the fitting landscape from the back end of a train, paying special attention to track and depot facilities, so that it will be able to arrive at a correct conclusion regarding the actual value of the property.

The campaign for Rally Day June 16, will be launched in the Sunday School at 9:30 a. m.

The Poultry Yard

Too much corn meal is not good for young chicks.

Apoplexy and eggbound are the result of excessive fat.

Milk in any form is both meat and drink to laying hens.

No one kind of grain will give as good results as a variety.

Get seed of the nest egg gourd and grow your own nest eggs.

Observe which hens are the best layers and breed from them.

There is nothing so fruitful of disease as damp, unclean quarters.

Don't be too sure that your birds have no lice; examine them closely.

Bowel trouble in young chicks is often prevented and corrected by the substitution of scalded milk for water.

The heavy setters should have shallow nest boxes and rather flat nests, otherwise there will be many broken eggs.

A good preparation with which to clean eggs that are soiled is vinegar diluted with water. Clean eggs sell better.

It should be the ambition of every poultry raiser, no matter how small his flock, to be the best in the neighborhood.

A dust bath under cover is a necessity at all times, but especially in the spring and summer when lice multiply rapidly.

To get profit out of ducklings they must be sold as soon as large enough which is usually just before the down disappears.

It is about time now to practice the ounce of prevention for mites. Whitewash is good for the house and a dust bath for the hens.

It is a harmful and costly practice to permit little chickens to get wet and cold. Clean, warm, dry conditions are indispensable.

Ducklings should not be allowed water, beyond what is necessary to quench their thirst, until they are reasonably well feathered.

A big basketful of chaff from the barn floor in early in the morning, will set the fowls to work and prepare them to relish their breakfast.

When two hens are hatching at the same time put all the chicks as they hatch under one hen and the unhatched eggs under the other.

It is a mistake to feed sour or tainted food. All food that is not eaten up an hour after feeding should be gathered up and thrown away.

Many experienced poultry raisers are of the opinion that gapes are caused by feeding the chicks on the ground. The safest and best plan is to feed on the boards.

Sn-flaxseed is a good feed to produce bright plumage. If fed judiciously. Every breeder should send to some reliable seedsmen for some seed and plant it this spring.

"Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is the best remedy for that fatal disease—croup. It has been used with success in our family for eight years." —Mrs. D. Whitacre, —Butte, N. D.

LIFE is, in fact, a battle.

On this point optimists and pessimists agree. Evil is insolent and strong; beauty enchanting and rare; goodness very apt to be weak; folly very apt to be defiant; wickedness to carry the day; imbeciles to be in great places, people of sense in small, and mankind generally unhappy. But the world as it stands is no illusion, no phantasm, no evil dream of a night: we wake up to it again and again forever.—Henry James.

MEN MUST EAT IF THERE ARE FEW FARMERS

Agricultural America is now buying from manufacturing Europe large quantities of potatoes. We are also just now taking from the Argentine Republic large quantities of corn to supply the needs of Corn-growing America. A few years ago such things would not have been believed. During the past ten years our imports of agricultural products have almost doubled and our exports of farm products have fallen from 70 per cent of our total exports to 55 per cent. Our manufactures have greatly increased while our agricultural interests have dragged. People have gone from the farms to the cities and towns in great numbers. The statistics show that in 1800 our rural population was 83.88 per cent of our total population. This means that 84 farming people had to produce food enough for only 100 persons. Now 63 farming people must produce enough for 100 consumers. There can be no difference of opinion as to the bearing this has upon the permanency of the higher cost of living. It is apparent and again emphasizes the old law of supply and demand.

The talent who are to give the concert at Madisonville have been solicited by Lyceum people, and Mr. A. E. Gringle, editor of the LYCEUM WORLD, Indianapolis, Ind., expects to come from there to hear those people. Why should the outside people be more interested in our own talent than we. Let us give them a great audience.

BILLANELLE

Bill Bryan, on a Summer's day, Was in the meadow raking hay. He thought, as he had thought before,

About the field at Baltimore.

He thought of Theodore and Bill, And some old-timers running still.

He thought of life, too swiftly fled, And how long all of us are dead.

He thought of destiny, of chance, Of history, and circumstance.

He thought of three times out and four,

And the White House gaping at the door.

He thought how any Democrat Can beat the straw man or the hat.

He pitched the hay sometimes a mile A smiled a very subtle smile.

He well and competently wrought. But no man knows just what he thought.

He showed extraordinary skill, As one while thinking sometimes will.

With sometimes darkly-clouding brow,

He got at the matter, anyhow.

He made—but there! We always shield.

The secrets of a private field. Bill wasn't pitching hay that day,

Out on the highway, anyway.

He showed extraordinary skill, As one while thinking sometimes will.

With sometimes darkly-clouding brow,

He got at the matter, anyhow.

He made—but there! We always shield.

BACKACHE NOT A DISEASE

But a Symptom, a Danger Signal Which Every Woman Should Heed.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Woodall's experience.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Poor Old England.

"England," says a critic, "is a country of great intentions which are rarely carried out." "A nation of shopkeepers," was bad enough, but a nation of incapable undertakers is terrible!—London Opinion.

Mrs. Rose A. Freeman, Clifford, Va., says they have long used Foley Remedies and want to say a good word for them. She writes: "Foley Kidney Pills cured my husband of a long standing kidney trouble, after he had taken other medicine without relief. We would not be without Foley & Co's. medicines in our house for many times their cost." Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, Drug Department.

LONG TIME INVESTMENT.

Expert Reports That These Kentucky Coal Deposits Will be Profitable in 3,000 Years

The father of a well-known Wall Street banker recently died and among the securities in his estate his son found the deeds for some canal coal lands in Kentucky. While the mines had belonged to the family a number of years they had never been examined thoroughly. The young banker decided to find out their value and hired a famous geologist to report on them. After thoroughly inspecting the properties, which took months of time and an expenditure of thousands of dollars, the expert stated in his long report:

"The canal coal deposits of these lands are very rich, but as the veins are wide apart and the thickest one is but 9 inches, and inasmuch as the smallest veins should appraise approximately 2 feet thick to work at a profit. I do not recommend working the mine. However, the deposits indicate that in 3,000 years the land will be workable and yield an enormous tonnage."

When your food does not digest well and you feel "blue" tired and discouraged, you should use a little HERBINE at bedtime. It opens the bowels, purifies the system and restores a fine feeling of health and energy. Price 50c. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, Drug Department.

Neglected wounds produce old sores and these in time develop ulcers which eat away the vitality.

Ballard's Snow Liniment

Is a Healing Remedy for All Ailments of the Flesh of Man and Beast.

The speed with which this splendid liniment heals up a bad wound or sore has surprised and pleased those who were accustomed to the slower and uncertain effect of less powerful remedies. It mends the lacerated flesh so quickly that there is but little time lost from work. In relieving rheumatic pains, neuralgia, sciatica, it has done and is doing a wonderful work. Many chronic victims of these diseases have found to their great satisfaction that it cures an attack in a fraction of the time required by the ordinary treatment. It is equally effective in the flesh ailments of animals. Owners of blooded stock value it highly for two reasons: It heals sores and wounds quickly, and leaves no disfiguring scars. This remedy is needed in every home. If its great power and efficacy was generally known, no family would be without it.

Miss Minerva and William Green Hill

By
ANCES BOYD CALHOUN

Copyright, by Kelly & Britton Co.

The children looked at each other in consternation when they perceived their loss.

"What we goin' to do now?" asked Billy.

"If this ain't just like Billy, all time got to perpose to clam' a ladder and all time got to let the ladder get loose from him," growled Jimmy. "We done looked a goose egg, this time. You got us up here, Billy, how you going to get us down?"

"I did n't, neither."

"Well, it 's Miss Minerva's house and she 's your aunt and we 's your company and you got to be 'sponsible."

"I can clam' down this here post," said the responsible party.

"I can climb down it, too," seconded Frances.

"You can't clam' down nothing at all," said Jimmy contemptuously. "Talk 'bout you can clam' down a post; you 'd fall and bust yourself wide open; you 'bout the clumsiest girl there is; 'sides, your legs 're too fat."

"We can holla," was Lina's suggestion.

"And have grown folks laughing sit to pop their sides open? I 'm 'shamed to go anywheres now 'cause folks all time telling me when I 'm going to live some more Easter eggs! Naw, we better not bother," said Jimmy. "Ain't you going to do nothing, Billy?"

"I 'll just slide down this here post and git the painter man to bring his ladder back. I 'll wait up here."

Billy's solution of the difficulty seemed the safest, and they were soon released from their elevated prison.

"I might as well go home and be learning the catechism," groaned Lina.

"I 'm going to get right in the closet soon 's I get to my house," said Frances. "Go on and put on your night-shirt, Billy."

Billy took himself to the bathroom and scrubbed and scrubbed; but the paint refused to come off. He tiptoed by the kitchen where his aunt was cooking dinner and ran into his own room.

He found the shoes and stockings which were reserved for Sunday wear, and soon had them upon his little feet.

Miss Minerva rang the dinner-bell and he walked quietly into the dining-room trying to make as little noise and to attract as little attention from his aunt as possible; but she fastened her eyes at once upon his feet.

"What are you doing with your shoes on, William?" she asked.

Billy glanced nonchalantly at her.

"Don't you think, Aunt Minerva," he made answer, "I 's gittin' too big to go 'bout any shoes? I 's mos' ready to put on long pants, an' how'd I look, I'd jest like to know, goin' round bare-footed an' got on long baches. I don' believe I 'll go barefooted no mo'—I 'll jest wear my shoes ev'ry day."

"I just believe you won't. Go take them off at once and hurry back to your dinner."

"Lemme jest wait till I eat," he begged, hoping to postpone the evil hour of exposure.

"No, go at once, and be sure and wash your hands."

Miss Minerva eyed the paint the instant he made his second entrance and immediately inquired, "How did you get that paint on your feet?"

The little boy took his seat at the table and looked up at her with his sweet, attractive, winning smile.

"Paint perter's little boys' feet," he said, "an' keeps 'em 'om gittin' hurt-ed, Aunt Minerva, don't it?"

Miss Minerva laid down her fork and gave her nephew her undivided attention.

"You have been getting into mischief again, I see, William; now tell me all about it. Are you afraid of me?"

"Yas 'm," was his prompt response, "an' I don't want to be put to bed neither. The major he would n't put little boys to bed day times."

She blushed and eyed him thoughtfully. She was making slow progress with the child, she knew, yet she still felt it her stern duty to be very strict with him and, having laid down certain rules to rear him by, she wished to adhere to them.

"William," she said after he had made a full confession, "I won't punish you this time for I know that Jimmy led you into it but—"

"Naw'm, Jimmy did n't. Me an' him an' Frances an' Lina's all 'sponsible, but I promise you, Aunt Minerva, not to clam' no mo' ladders."

CHAPTER XXI.

Pretending Reality.

The chain-gang had been working in the street not far from Miss Minerva's house, and Lina, Frances, Billy and Jimmy had hung on her front fence for an hour, watching them with eager interest. The negroes were chained together in pairs, and guarded by two, big, burly white men.

"Let's us play chain-gang," suggested Jimmy.

"Where we goin' to git a chain?" queried Billy; "'t won't be no fun 'bout a lock an' chain."

"I can get the lock and chain off 'm Sarah Jane's cabin."

"Yo' mama don't 'low you to go to her cabin," said Billy.
